5 ways TO A BETTER DIY BLOW-DRY

These insider tips will upgrade your mane!

NEW Beauty

1 DON'T OVERLOAD YOUR STRANDS This is vital for a longer-lasting style, as too much product will weigh down your hair and also become dirtier quicker. Less is more!

2 ATTACH THE NOZZLE......To the end of your hairdryer for a more polished and professional finish. The narrow nozzle targets the airflow to sculpt your strands perfectly to your brush size.

3 USE SERUM WISELY If you like to use a hair serum, always apply to damp hair strands and then blow-dry in. This absorbs far better on dry hair, and in turn, the sheen looks more red-carpet worthy, which is always key to great-looking hair.

4 TAKE A SHORT-CUT We all love a short-cut and, most importantly, saving time. So, to speed up your drying time, shake your hair dry for at least 80 per cent of the blow-dry, before you start your brushwork. Your arms will thank you too.

5 GO EASY Use strong hairspray minimally – a little at the time when you need to give your hairstyle a punch of staying power. Steer clear of heavy lacquers, ladies, or you could end up with a 'helmet head'!

We do it most days, but are we doing it right? Let's all learn from the master of the blow-dry, Anthony Nader, who's worked the tresses of supermodels such as Gisele Bündchen and Miranda Kerr.

We have hair envy! Miranda loves the natural, Australian haircare brand Pure Hair Food.

In your toolkit

Brushworx Tourmaline Boar Bristle Radial Brush, $21.95.

Parlux 3200 Ionic & Ceramic Compact Dryer, $199.95.

Pure Hair Food Feed Your Hair Smoothing Serum, $28.90.

L'Oréal Paris Elnett Satin Normal Strength Hairspray, $9.95.

BEAUTY ED'S FAVE

I'm at that tricky age where I need to cover dark circles under my eyes, but I have wrinkles there too, so the wrong type of concealer can sit in those fine lines and make them look even more prominent. So, I'd stopped wearing concealer until I tried this one – it's magic! It covers and hydrates so you get coverage without dryness – and I don't look tired.

Benefit Boi-ing Hydrating Concealer, $34.

Fragrance meets FASHION

Inspired by his iconic handbags, the latest offering from designer Marc Jacobs is a light but heady mix of juicy fruits and lush florals that's worth adding to your Christmas wish list.

Decadence Eau So Decadent Eau De Toilette, $90, or rollerball, $25.
