Vintage SPARKLE

THE RED CARPET IS GLITTERING WITH HEADPIECES INSPIRED BY THE '20S AND '30S

Designer dress? Check. Towering stilettos? Of course. Glitzy headpiece? Absolutely! It appears that the must-have accessory this awards season is a gleaming headband or hair accessory.

"We have seen a lot of hair accessories inspired by the vintage looks of the 1920s and '30s on the red carpet this year," celebrity hair stylist and hair accessories designer George Giavis says. Celebs are loving styles right now ranging from wraparound bands to delicate clips, with the common factor being a bit of sparkle and shine.

Whether you prefer silver or gold, over-the-top or understated, the best part about this trend is that it translates straight from a red carpet ensemble to a glamorous evening look in the real world. Bling it on!

How to... GEORGE'S THREE 'P'S TO FITTING A HAIR ACCESSORY PERFECTLY

PLAN Consider where you are going to place the accessory. Experiment in front of the mirror and work out what works best with your overall look, head shape and hairstyle.
PREPARE Style your hair into the desired look. If you are adding a large clip or weighty hair accessory, consider a voluminous style so that your hair isn't overpowered by the accessory.

PLACEMENT Once the hair is styled, carefully place the accessory into the desired spot, securing with pins and hairspray for extra hold.
