YOUR GUIDE TO DAILY
GLAMOUR

Rosie Huntington-Whiteley perfects casual chic with the half-up, half-down hairdo.

ROSIE HUNTINGTON-WHITELEY

Presenting the lazy girl's guide to hot hair!

1 Rock-star glam This particular brand of dishevelled chic requires a whole lot of white powder—mattifying hair powder, naturally! Greasy roots? Of course you do, with this many gigs to attend. Dry shampoo will solve the oil crisis. Sprinkle mattifying dust throughout mid-lengths and, boom, Kate Moss-esque rock-star locks are yours, baby.

2 The effortless low 'do Situation: you've got an elegant soiree to attend, but it's less than 10 minutes till taxi time. Enter the low-slung bun. Mousse and bobby pins are your styling saviours and will give locks true grit. Rake hair into a low pony, twist your 'tail into a low bun and pin in place.

3 Go halves A hot date is on the agenda—you want to show a bit of mane, but don't want to be fiddling with hair all night. Solution: the half-up, half-down 'do lets you keep that feminine length and draw attention to your neck and cheekbones. Prep with mousse before pulling hair back, then pull out a few face-framing pieces.

POMPOM PONIES

Cheerleaders aren't usually our muses for strand inspiration, but since we spied Mrs Madden working an über-high pony, we say bring it on! Get pumped with volumising spray, then position your pony high. Not convinced it's age-appropriate? Hot tip: it's an instant facelift!
