byamygee What's your current must have hair care product?

Ok so I'm gonna preface this by saying, when people give really positive reviews for things they've been sent I totally get that you think "hmmmm do they REALLY like it THAT much" 🤔 But scouts honour, these hair products are freakin amazing!!!!

@glamour_au sent me a set of 4 hair care products from @fave4hair designed to hydrate as well as create shine and silky smooth hair. Over the past 4 ish weeks since I started testing out these products my hair has been unbelievably soft, glossy and de frizzed - I'm still touching my hair everyday going "I can't believe how amazing it feels!"

The Hydrating Help Shampoo and Let's Go Light Conditioner are great at cleansing and hydrating my hair without weighing it down. The Dirty to Flirty Dry Shampoo is also a winner as, even though it sprays out white, it doesn't leave a light residue on my dark hair 🙌 The product I've fallen most in love with is the Smooth For Sure Blowout Cream 📍 I'd been complaining for ages about how frizzy my hair was and how it didn't matter how much time I took straightening it, I couldn't get it looking sleek (but in true Amy style I didn't do anything about it 🤪). Well this cream has been a major game changer for my hair - I apply it before blow drying and before straightening and my hair is considerably less frizzy AND stays that way even when heat/humidity gets to it (I've really put it through it's paces with some recent partying and it's impressed me greatly) 🥰🥰

So in summary, this is a fad and I was sent these products for free, but I'd absolutely purchase all of these with my own money - and I will definitely be repurchasing many MANY tubes of that blowout cream coz it has become a hair essential for me 📍

Thank you for attending my TED Talk 🥰🥰
