been anywhere
without it!

POCKET ROCKET

This new nail kit from Tweezerman has come to the rescue and saved us from snags just in time for stocking season. It features a mini hangnail nipper, nail file and a cuticle pusher (which doubles as a nifty nail cleaner) - all in a little plastic case that slots easily into your bag. It gets an A+ for practicality and convenience from us.

BUZZ WORTHY

Chantecaille's limited-edition seasonal palettes have the power to make a difference. So far, they've helped many endangered species - such as turtles, elephants and wild horses - and now it's the bees' turn. Five per cent of profits from each Save the Bees Palette sold will help save nature's pollinators.

SAYONARA SHINE!

There's no chance of a 3pm oil breakout with these two new buys in your arsenal. Benefit's offering is great for minimising shine and smoothing pores, while Laura Mercier's pressed version of its iconic setting powder helps make-up last all day long and also softens fine lines.

EYE SPY

If your poor peepers still haven't recovered from the party season, there's a slew of serums, creams and concentrates hitting counters that will soon perk them up! Lancôme's release injects a youthfulness into all areas of the face that are affected by ageing eyes, such as brows and cheekbones. PreVage's new product zones in on the effects of environmental aggressors like smoke and pollution - which cause inflammation - while Clinique's newbie has a sheer, luminous formula which brightens tired-looking eyes.
